

INTENT TO PURSUE HEALTH LAW CONCENTRATION

NAME	DATE
BANNER ID	STUDENT EMAIL
ANTICIPATED GRADUATION DATE	STUDENT PHONE
UNDERGRADUATE SCHOOL AND MAJOR
OTHER DEGREES, CERTIFICATES

The Concentration in Health Law recognizes J.D. students who complete a required course of study and co-curricular activities in health law offered through the Center for Health Law Studies. A student earns the Concentration in Health Law by completing the requirements described below, which are found in the Student Handbook, pp. 58-59.

1. Apply for the Concentration in Health Law

Students must submit this completed Intent to Pursue Health Law Concentration form to the Concentration Advisor, Prof. Amy Sanders, via Abigail.Allred@slu.edu (or in person, Room 941). Students should apply as soon as they decide to pursue the concentration. Students are not permitted to apply for the concentration in their last semester of law school.

2. Ten credit hours of designated health law courses

Concentration students must obtain a grade of C or higher in a minimum of 10 credit hours in designated health law courses. Courses and seminars which may be used to satisfy this requirement are updated during each registration period and designated as Health Law courses on the published schedule. If a student earns a failing grade in a Health Law Concentration course or seminar, the eligibility to earn the Health Law Concentration is subject to the discretion of the faculty advisor.

3. Practical experience

Concentration students must gain supervised experience in a health law practice setting. Students are encouraged to satisfy this requirement by enrolling in the School of Law Field Placement Program (generally completed during the third year of the full-time program or fourth year of the part-time or dual degree programs). Students are also encouraged to participate in the Health Law Semester in Washington D. C. program in the spring of their third year. In special circumstances and with prior approval from the Associate Director of the Center for Health Law Studies, students may satisfy this requirement through a non-credit work experience in a practice setting which includes significant research and drafting relating to health care law as part of substantial part-time employment or summer employment experience. Students are required to make an application for approval before a non-credit work experience begins and submit evidence of completion at the end of the employment experience. Non-credit work experience, part time, or summer employment require at least 115 hours of work on health law issues under the supervision of a licensed attorney.

4. Publishable paper

Students must submit a publishable health law paper to be reviewed and approved by the Concentration Advisor. Papers completed for a health law seminar, directed research or journal note/comment can satisfy this requirement. Please describe any health law related issues or topics you might be interested in researching here:

5. Colloquia attendance and five critical summaries

Students must participate in the Center’s Colloquia, which includes the Distinguished Speaker Series and the annual (Spring) Health Law Symposium. To meet this requirement, a student must attend at least five speakers from the Colloquia and complete critical summaries on those speakers. Part-time evening students and students with documented class conflicts may view the recorded presentation to fulfill the attendance requirement. Students are encouraged to begin this requirement during their first year of law school. Students must have completed at least three critical summaries by the end of the second to last semester of their law school career. Critical summaries should consist of a 2-4 page evaluation of the information presented by the speaker and the student’s evaluation of the presentation. Summaries are due within thirty days of the presentation. Summaries will not be accepted after the semester in which the presentation occurred.

CAREER GOALS

Please briefly state your reasons for pursuing the Concentration in Health Law and your health law career goals:

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I acknowledge that I have read the requirements for the Health Law Concentration. I understand it is my responsibility to comply with all of the requirements; to turn in critical summaries in a timely manner as described above; and, to communicate with the Center as to my progress toward earning the Concentration in Health Law. I understand that I must complete the Concentration Completion Form during my last year of law school no later than Sept. 14 (Dec. graduates) or February 1 (May/Aug. graduates).

Student Signature

Date

PLEASE KEEP FOR YOUR RECORDS

The Concentration in Health Law recognizes J.D. students who complete a required course of study and co-curricular activities in health law offered through the Center for Health Law Studies. A student earns the Concentration in Health Law by completing the requirements described below, which are found in the Student Handbook, pp. 58-59.

1. Apply for the Concentration in Health Law

Students must submit this completed Intent to Pursue Health Law Concentration form to the Concentration Advisor, Prof. Amy Sanders, via Abigail.Allred@slu.edu (or in person, Room 941). Students should apply as soon as they decide to pursue the concentration. Students are not permitted to apply for the concentration in their last semester of law school.

2. Ten credit hours of designated health law courses

Concentration students must obtain a grade of C or higher in a minimum of 10 credit hours in designated health law courses. Courses and seminars which may be used to satisfy this requirement are updated during each registration period and designated as Health Law courses on the published schedule. If a student earns a failing grade in a Health Law Concentration course or seminar, the eligibility to earn the Health Law Concentration is subject to the discretion of the faculty advisor.

3. Practical experience

Concentration students must gain supervised experience in a health law practice setting. Students are encouraged to satisfy this requirement by enrolling in the School of Law Field Placement Program (generally completed during the third year of the full-time program or fourth year of the part-time or dual degree programs). Students are also encouraged to participate in the Health Law Semester in Washington D. C. program in the spring of their third year. In special circumstances and with prior approval from the Associate Director of the Center for Health Law Studies, students may satisfy this requirement through a non-credit work experience in a practice setting which includes significant research and drafting relating to health care law as part of substantial part-time employment or summer employment experience. Students are required to make an application for approval before a non-credit work experience begins and submit evidence of completion at the end of the employment experience. Non-credit work experience, part time, or summer employment require at least 115 hours of work on health law issues under the supervision of a licensed attorney.

4. Publishable paper

Students must submit a publishable health law paper to be reviewed and approved by the Concentration Advisor. Papers completed for a health law seminar, directed research or journal note/comment can satisfy this requirement. Please describe any health law related issues or topics you might be interested in researching here:

5. Colloquia attendance and five critical summaries

Students must participate in the Center's Colloquia, which includes the Distinguished Speaker Series and the annual (Spring) Health Law Symposium. To meet this requirement, a student must attend at least five speakers from the Colloquia and complete critical summaries on those speakers. Part-time evening students and students with documented class conflicts may view the recorded presentation to fulfill the attendance requirement. Students are encouraged to begin this requirement during their first year of law school. Students must have completed at least three critical summaries by the end of the second to last semester of their law school career. Critical summaries should consist of a 2-4 page evaluation of the information presented by the speaker and the student's evaluation of the presentation. Summaries are due within thirty days of the presentation. Summaries will not be accepted after the semester in which the presentation occurred.

CAREER GOALS

Please briefly state your reasons for pursuing the Concentration in Health Law and your health law career goals:

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I acknowledge that I have read the requirements for the Health Law Concentration. I understand it is my responsibility to comply with all of the requirements; to turn in critical summaries in a timely manner as described above; and, to communicate with the Center as to my progress toward earning the Concentration in Health Law. I understand that I must complete the Concentration Completion Form during my last year of law school no later than Sept. 14 (Dec. graduates) or February 1 (May/Aug. graduates).

CONCENTRATION COMPLETION FORM
HEALTH LAW

IMPORTANT: Please fill out all information, attach an unofficial transcript and submit to Program Coordinator Abigail Allred no later than September 14 (Dec. graduates) or February 1 (May/Aug. graduates). Please refer to the Student Handbook for a complete description of the Health Law concentration requirements.

PLEASE TYPE OR PRINT

 Name

 Banner ID

 Date

CONCENTRATION COURSES:

Students must complete (with a grade of C or better) at least 10 credit hours in designated health law courses.

COURSE TITLE	PROFESSOR	SEMESTER / YEAR	CREDIT HOURS	GRADE

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE:

Students must complete supervised experience in a health law practice setting. Normally, this is fulfilled by enrolling in the Externship Program or Legal Clinics. Non-credit externships may fulfill the requirement if pre-approved by the Associate Director.

PRACTICE SETTING	CLINICAL PROFESSOR OR ATTORNEY SUPERVISOR	SEMESTER / YEAR	CREDIT HOURS	GRADE

PUBLISHABLE PAPER:

Students must submit a paper on a topic in health law to be approved by the Director of Health Law Studies. Papers completed for a health law seminar or directed research will fulfill this requirement.

COURSE TITLE	PROFESSOR	SEMESTER / YEAR	CREDIT HOURS	GRADE

COLLOQUIA ATTENDANCE AND CRITICAL SUMMARIES: See Student Handbook for specific requirement.

SPEAKER / PRESENTATION TITLE / PRESENTATION DATE	DATE SUBMITTED
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.

Student has completed the requirements of the Health Law concentration: Yes No

 Concentration Advisor Signature

 Date